FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20: 8:00 – 11:30

PRACTISING WISELY: REDUCING UNNECESSARY TESTING AND TREATMENT

Jennifer Young, Anthony Train

Practising Wisely is a suite of new continuing professional development opportunities for primary care providers. Participants will identify opportunities to “practise wisely,” with a focus on reducing over-prescribing, over-imaging, over-screening, and over-monitoring using the latest evidence and tools from diverse sources. This workshop aligns closely with the Choosing Wisely Canada (CWC) campaign to implement good health care stewardship and avoid over-medicalization.

PRIMARY CARE TRANSFORMATION: HOW TO TACKLE STICKY PROBLEMS WE WERE NEVER TAUGHT TO ADDRESS

Brad Bahler, Nadine Letwin

In health care, we all eventually come face to face with problems outside our specific locus of control. These “system” problems in health care pose significant challenges to patients and primary care providers alike. This workshop will explore the Systems Transformation element of the LEADS Framework in health leadership. We will examine what is meant by systems transformation, expose participants to challenges that are rooted in our traditional mindset, and consider new approaches to problems we were never taught to solve.

PRE-CONFERENCE WORKSHOP FEES
Practising Wisely (30 spaces available)	$325
Primary Care Transformation (30 spaces available)
